

TO BE RESCINDED

173-45-04

Opening page of the consumer guide web site.

The opening page of the consumer guide web site shall include, or shall include direct links to, all of the following information:

- (A) A description of the information available in the guide including links to descriptions of the variety of long-term care service options available to meet individual needs.
- (B) A brief assessment tool to assist consumers in determining the types of services available to meet their needs.
- (C) Resource information available on the web site, and at other locations on the internet, about terms and definitions, regulations, how to finance long-term care, government and private organizations with pertinent information about long-term care services, and similar information to assist consumers in identifying, selecting and accessing long-term care services.
- (D) The executive summary.
- (E) Search queries for comparative data and specific detailed information about individual nursing homes, notice that regulatory surveys of nursing facilities are conducted at periodic intervals and that conditions in a facility can change significantly between standard surveys, and a recommendation that individuals considering nursing facility placement visit any facilities they are considering.
- (F) A disclaimer regarding the limitations of the data included in the guide and notice that specific disclaimers will appear throughout the guide informing consumers of the limitations of data and information they are viewing at the time.
- (G) The privacy policy statement of the web site.
- (H) A web site map.

Effective: 12/15/2005

R.C. 119.032 review dates: 09/21/2005

CERTIFIED ELECTRONICALLY

Certification

12/05/2005

Date

Promulgated Under: 119.03
Statutory Authority: R.C. 173.02, R.C. 173.57 (R.C. 173.57 was rescinded in Am. Sub. H.B. 95 of the 125th G.A.)
Rule Amplifies: R.C. 173.46, R.C. 173.49, R.C. 173.51 (These statutes were rescinded in Am. Sub. H.B. 95 of the 125th G.A.)
Prior Effective Dates: 1/21/01