

5101:1-39-27.6 Medicaid: dividends and interest.

Generally, accrued dividends and interest on savings accounts and certificates, stocks, bonds, etc., are added to the principal and the total evaluated as a liquid asset. Dividends and interest which are paid directly to the individual/couple and are not added to the value of the resource are considered unearned income. Exceptions to this provision are specifically identified within appropriate rules throughout Chapter 5101:1-39 of the Administrative Code.
