Providers are required to submit claims in order to receive Medicaid reimbursement. On each claim, a provider reports many pieces of information, such as the identity of the person served, the services provided, related diagnoses, the date of service, and the place of service.

Rule 5101:3-1-60 also has particular reporting requirements: (1) When a recipient has third-party coverage (e.g., by a private insurance company), a provider is required to report service information to the third-party payer in the form of a claim. (2) The "billed amount" reported on a Medicaid claim must be a provider's usual and customary charge.
