The waiting list process shall also collect, as applicable to the individual, the number of days the individual waits before receiving services, being assessed for services, and the number of days between an assessment and receiving services.

The rule sets forth the contact procedures for when a service opening is available, and how long to wait if an individual does not respond.

Providers report waiting list data to the Department, which will post aggregate data to its website and provide to boards of alcohol, drug addiction, and mental health services information about waiting times within each board's service area.

The waiting list will be required of any community addiction services provider and will impact them through employee time to record data. The time per individual will vary per procedures implemented at each provider; however it is a consistent amount of data to be entered. The basic data for each individual will require a few minutes of an employee's time per individual seeking services, with follow-up data collection for call backs taking similar amounts of time. Providers may be able to automate some aspects of this data collection through integration with existing systems. Nevertheless, the required data collection and reporting should be around 1-5 hours per month.
